Jonathan Stein and Law Offices of Jonathan Stein are pleased to announce that Jonathan has returned fulltime to his business litigation practice. With 47 wins and 5 losses in the past 16 years, and 9-0 record in 7-figure litigations, it seems to be what Jonathan does best.

Since 2006, Jonathan lead two gaming industry projects. Most recently, he lead the effort by 20 gaming and food & beverage companies to create a "mini-Indian casino" concept new to charity bingo. Two recent court decisions authorized use of Class II slot machines in charity bingo.

The first 500-machine, 104,000-ft facility was under contract in Bakersfield and fully financed to open. Extensive City staff meetings for charity bingo permits all indicated approval, when last month, Governor Schwarzenegger signed new legislation prohibiting use of electronic bingo machines.

Second, in May 2006, Jonathan arranged, negotiated and completed a $21-million financing with institutional investors including John Hancock Insurance. He continues excellent relations with the Gabrielino Tribe here in LA. While a casino is not yet possible, the Tribe boasts 1600 members, an arts & crafts company, and strong relationships with federal, state and local institutions.

Current legal work includes defending a second appeal of a recent $1.2-million victory, of which $1 million was paid to Jonathan's client already; a dispute between prominent record labels over a new hip-hop artist; real estate development matters in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; preparation for a November trial over a $2-million gaming contract claim; and strategic advice in connection with a "rollup" of premium chocolate importers.

Jonathan wishes to thank his many friends and business associates for their help during transition. Below is "new" contact information, for the same offices for over 10 years.
